

HIGH-CAPACITY AMMUNITION MAGAZINES

High-capacity ammunition magazines are the common thread running through most mass shootings in the United States.

Since 1980, there have been at least 70 mass shootings (three or more fatalities) where the shooter used high-capacity ammunition magazines.

A total of 671 people were killed in these shootings, and 1,046 were wounded.

This number is likely a significant undercount of actual incidents as there is no consistent collection or reporting on this data. Even in many high-profile shootings, information on magazine capacity is neither released nor reported.

The Violence Policy Center has compiled this list of incidents by analyzing news reports and follow-up investigative reports on mass shootings.
