

TEDDY BEARS

HAVE TO MEET CONSUMER HEALTH & SAFETY STANDARDS

- 1 At least four types of federal safety standards cover teddy bears: sharp edges and points, small parts, hazardous materials, and flammability.
- 2 In 2020, there was one recall of a stuffed toy issued by the Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC).
- 3 Stuffed toys such as Teddy bears killed one child in the United States in 2020.

BUT GUNS DON'T!

- 1 There are no federal safety standards for the domestic manufacture of firearms.
- 2 No federal health and safety agency has the authority to recall defective guns or force changes in firearm design.
- 3 Guns killed 45,222 people in the United States in 2020, including 24,292 suicides, 19,384 homicides, and 535 fatal unintentional shootings.

THE SOLUTION

End the gun industry's unique and deadly exemption from federal health and safety standards. To learn more, visit the Violence Policy Center's Campaign for Gun Industry Accountability at gunindustryaccountability.org
