

IMPORTANT SAFETY RECALL NOTICE REGARDING COLT CBX BOLT-ACTION RIFLES

Colt's Manufacturing Company LLC ("Colt") has recently learned of a potential safety issue with its CBX bolt-action rifles. Both the CBX Precision and CBX Tac Hunter models are affected. Colt is voluntarily initiating a recall of these rifles because of the potential for an unintentional discharge of the rifle, without pulling the trigger, under certain conditions when the manual safety is disengaged.

IMMEDIATELY STOP USING YOUR COLT CBX RIFLE AND RETURN IT TO COLT.

Colt has learned that, for some CBX rifles, if the trigger is pulled while the manual safety is engaged (in the “safe” position), the trigger may not fully reset. This could result in an unintentional discharge of the rifle when the manual safety is moved to the “fire” position, without a further pull of the trigger.

To return your Colt CBX Rifle, fill out the form below.

Because the CBX rifle line has been discontinued, Colt will be offering consumers who return their rifles the following two options:

Option 1 – Cash Refund:

For each CBX Precision rifle SKU CBX-HV24CGA-308, or SKU CBX-HV26CGA-65C, the amount of $1,899.00.

For each CBX Tac Hunter rifle SKU CBX-SP20PGA-308, or SKU CBX-SP22PGA-65C, the amount of $999.00.

Option 2 – Replacement Revolver (Plus Cash Where Applicable):

- One (1) Colt Anaconda revolver, SKU ANACONDA-SP8RTS, plus $200.00 cash; or
- One (1) Colt Python revolver, SKU PYTHON-BP6WTS, plus $200.00 cash.

For each CBX Tac Hunter rifle SKU CBX-SP20PGA-308, or SKU CBX-SP22PGA-65C:

- One (1) Colt King Cobra revolver, SKU KCOBRA22-SP6RFO; or
- One (1) Colt King Cobra revolver, SKU KCOBRA-SB4TS.

Retailers with remaining inventory who purchased CBX rifles from a distributor should return those rifles back to the distributor. Retailers and distributors with remaining inventory who purchased CBX rifles directly from Colt should contact their Colt Sales Team representative for an RMA.

To safely unload your Colt CBX rifle, please follow the steps below (which can also be found in the CBX Owner's Manual):

rearward to the “safe” position.

2. Remove the magazine by pushing the magazine latch forward to release the magazine. Note: If the magazine does not drop freely, pull on the magazine base plate while pushing on the magazine catch until the magazine is free of the rifle.
3. With your finger off the trigger and outside of the trigger guard, push down on the bolt release to unlock the bolt and then lift and pull the bolt fully rearward; this should extract and eject the round from the chamber.
4. With the bolt open, both visually and physically (with your finger) inspect both the chamber and the magazine well of your CBX rifle to be sure that no ammunition remains in either place.

Colt values its relationship with you and sincerely apologizes for any inconvenience this may cause. Safety comes first.

Replacement Revolver (Plus Cash Where Applicable)

Revolver Replacement Conditions:

You may only select the replacement option that corresponds to the CBX rifle SKU that you are returning. If you have multiple CBX rifles to return, please fill out a new form for each rifle serial number.

Please note that you must be at least 21 years of age and legally able to possess a handgun (revolver) in your state of residence if you wish to select a replacement revolver instead of the refund. Replacement revolvers must be transferred through a federally licensed firearms dealer in your state of residence in accordance with all applicable federal and state laws. Residents of California and Massachusetts are not eligible for the replacement revolver option. If you do not qualify for a replacement revolver, or the replacement revolver is not compliant for sale in your state, you will only be eligible for a refund.

If you wish to select the revolver replacement option, you must upload a valid copy of the Federal Firearms License (FFL) for the firearms dealer/retailer in your state of residence.

Be advised that your federally licensed firearms dealer may charge additional fees for their service. All transfer fees, taxes, or other costs associated with the replacement revolver option are your responsibility.

☐ I certify that I am not a retailer or distributor. *

Retailers/Distributors:

The options provided above are for consumers only. Retailers with remaining inventory who purchased CBX rifles from a distributor should return those rifles back to the distributor. Retailers and distributors with remaining inventory who purchased CBX rifles directly from Colt should contact their Colt Sales Team representative for an RMA.
